DayNursery-uk.com launches new website for parents

A new service for parents looking for childcare has been launched.

DayNursery-uk.com provides helpful information for parents looking to find the best local day nursery childcare for their child.

Included within the site is a searchable directory of over 10,000 UK registered day nurseries. Parents can search for nurseries within their home town or where they work making finding the right childcare solution as easy as possible.

Parents help and advice is also included on the site with a dedicated area providing useful articles on choosing the right day nursery and other child care help.

To celebrate the launch of the site owners of day nurseries are invited to include information about their child care services to the site free of charge.

Sara Virgo (NNEB) a former Day Nursery Manager herself said “We want as many nursery’s as possible to take advantage of our offer to add their details free as its important to use to be able to offer UK parents the best help possible getting the right care for their child”
